SOUTH IS SWEPT BY TERRIFIC STORM

Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana Chief Sufferers.

TOWNS CUT OFF FROM WORLD

Memphis, Tenn., Nov. 20.—Eight persons are known to have lost their lives, scores of others injured, and damage, the extent of which, because of the meager reports yet obtainable, cannot be estimated at this time, as a result of one of the most torrential-like wind and rain storms ever experienced in this section.

The storm, which originated on the gulf Saturday night and early Sunday, swept northeastward through portions of Alabama, central and northern Mississippi and western Tennessee and in its northward course razed scores of substantial buildings, partially demolished hundreds of others, caused a complete demoralization of traffic, and cut off telegraphic communication with many points in the affected territory.

Cotton in the fields was blown down by the wind, beaten into the ground, and, if not totally, badly damaged. Besides the loss of life and property damage, which is known to have occurred a numhber of points directly in the pathway of the storm cannot be communicated with, and when complete reports have been received it is feared the loss to both life and property will be greatly increased.

Throughout almost the entire district rain continues to fall, but in decreased volume.

The storm approached Athens, Ala., from the west, and cut a path three hundred yards wide through the southern portion of that city. A score of buildings were wrecked, but no one was killed or seriously injured.

At Winona, Miss., the Catholic, Christian and negro Methodist church and the Hesty brick yard were demolished, and numerous buildings unroofed and badly damaged. Among the largest buildings damaged at this place are the postoffice, opera house, the oil mill, the compress, warehouse of the Jackson Mercantile company and the residence of E. J. Dunkston. Besides these about 25 smaller buildings were almost completly destroyed.

Telegraphic communication is completely destroyed.

The windstorm was preceeded and followed by heavy rains, causing serious washouts along the route of the Illinois Central railroad, and badly damaging crops.

At Noneconnah creek, a few miles from this city, a railroad trestle fell under the weight of a switch engine, the engine plunging into the swollen stream, carrying with it Engineer C. V. Peterson, and Fireman A. R. Ritchie, who were drowned.

At Mathison, Miss., nearly every building in the southern portion of the town was destroyed.

At this place a negro woman was killed and several others were injured.

Near Okolona, Miss., three lives were lost. The property loss at this place cannot be ascertained.

At Maben, Miss., Ben Wofford, a telegraph operator, and his wife, sustained injuries which may cause their death. At this place the Maben bank, and several brick buildings were demolished.

At Bolivar, Tenn., 9 inches of rain fell in 24 hours, and thousands of head of cattle were caught in the lowlands. All of the railroads passing through Jackson, Tenn., are tied up by washouts near that city, and about 1,000 feet of the Mobile and Ohio tracks near McNairy, Tenn., has been washed away. The water in this vicinity is higher than ever before known.

Grenada, Miss., where serious damage was reported to have occurred, escaped practically unscathed, the damage here being insignificant.

Among those points in the storm's path from which communication is cut off are West Point and Columbus, Miss.

Throughout northern Louisiana a heavy wind, rain and electric storm was also experienced, causing serious damage in some sections. In portions of Arkansas, some damage was done to crops by a heavy rainfall.

Wolf river, a small stream running eastward from this city, is bankful and in many places beyond the banks.

In the vicinity of Rossville, Tenn., this river is completely out of its banks, the water flooding the surrounding territory. The entire town of Rossville is inundated, the water in the public square reaching a depth of four feet and great damage has been done to property at this place and eastward. Quantities of loose cotton has been washed away as well as many small buildings and live stock drowned. For a distance of eight miles, between this place and Moscow, Tenn., the water is from one to six feet dep on the tracks of the Southern railway.

The Louisville and Nashville annulled all night trains from Memphis because of the weakness of the bridges across the Wolf river. On the Southern road all trains are detoured via the San Francisco and Mobile and Ohio routes.

New Orleans, Nov. 20.—Storms of almost tornado proportions visited several northern Mississippi towns, leaving a trail of death and destruction in its wake.

Because of the prostration of telegraph and telephone wires, it is impossible to secure direct information from the stricken towns except from passengers arriving here on the Illinois Central, who had passed through the devastated section.

Three persons were killed near Okolona and a number of houses blown down and others unroofed.

At Techula, a woman and her child were burned to death as a result of their home being wrecked by the storm and set on fire by the kitchen stove.

At nearly ever other point heard from in the northern part of the state houses are reported destroyed and great damage done to crops in the field. High floods are also reported.

At Lexington, the building occupied by the Lexington Advertiser caught fire and was completely destroyed. Very little other damage was done in the city, but crops suffered severely.

Shreveport, La., Nov. 20.—A very heavy wind, rain and electric storm swept over north Louisiana and in some sections serious damage was done. The storm lasted several hours, flooding all streets and causing washouts. At Arcadie the electric storm was severe, several residences being struck by lightning and damaged.

The electric light plant was put out of service and the town was in darkness all night.

Fayetteville, Tenn., Nov. 20.—On Sunday morning about 2 o'clock a cyclone passed through Lincoln county from the southwest to the northeast. Wreck and ruin were left in its pathway. Residences, barns, fencing and timbers were wrecked. No deaths or serious injuries have been reported. The damage to property will amount to many thousand dollars.

Nashville, Nov. 20.—Through service on one hundred miles of the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis railway's Paducah and Memphis division between Lexington and Memphis was resumed Monday afternoon after having been abandoned for 48 hours owing to the heavy rains which have put the Forked Deer and the Hatchie rivers out of their banks and over the tracks of the N. & C. in that section, causing four washouts.

Train Robbers Arrested.

Warsaw, Nov. 20.—The two leaders of the band of revolutionists and twenty others implicated in the train robbery at Rogow, Nov. 8, by which the revolutionists secured a sum of money, said to amount to $650,000, have been arrested. They all belong to the Plish Socialistic party.

BOMB IS HURLED AT ST. PETER'S SHRINE

People Fled In Panic But No One Was Killed.

CROWDED WITH WORSHIPERS

Rome, Nov. 20.—A bomb was exploded in St. Peter's Sunday. The edifice was crowded, and an indescribable scene of confusion followed. There were no fatalities.

As soon as the echoes of the tremendous report subsided, a canon said reassuring words to the congregation, in vain. They fled in all directions, and a number of women fainted. Women and children screamed and men tried to protect their families in the crush. The church is so large, however, that there was ample room for the crowd to scatter, and no one was injured. No trace of the perpetrator of the deed has been found.

Since Saint Anacletus, who was ordained by Peter himself, erected an oratory in 90 A. D., on the site of the present basilica to mark the spot where the remains of St. Peter are buried, no such dastardly occurrence is noted in the annals of the church.

Sunday was the anniversary of the dedication of the basilica, to St. Peter, and it was beautifully decorated for the occasion. Holy relics were exposed, and a large number of the faithful attended the services. Cardinal Rampolla, formerly papal secretary of state, was among those present. He took part in the service in the choir chapel. The last mass had just been concluded, when the explosion occurred, and only one canon, who had not quite finished, remained at the altar of Saint Petronilla. This altar is at the end of the right aisle and it was near here that the bomb had been placed. As the canon turned to bless the communicants there was a tremendous roar, which echoed throughout the lofty arches of the immense dome-like a thunder clap.

At the same time a dense smoke spread throughout this portion of the basilica, and a strong odor of gunpowder filled the air. Confusion and panic at once seized the people. The canon at the altar tried to stem the tide of fear. He shouted out:

"Do not be afraid; it is nothing, merely the noonday gun."

His words, however, had little effect. They were refuted by the smoke and the pungent smell of powder, and the people continued their headlong flight. Chairs were overthrown, making the confusion more serious. Men and women fled, stumbling in all directions, the screams of children and cries of anguish were heard on all sides, and for a few moments it seemd as if nothing could obviate a grave disaster. The vast size of the church, however, gave room for the crowd to scatter and at the end of a few moments the people were surging toward the doors, excited and nervous, but orderly.

As soon as the smoke cleared away a hasty examination showed that nobody had been hurt in the crush, and further more that no one had been wounded by the explosion. Calm was gradually restored and people returned to view the extent of the damage.

It was discovered that the bomb had ben placed under a scaffolding which had been erected to facilitate repairs to the roof exactly over the celebrated tomb of Clement XII, by Canova, which consists of a figure of the pope and two lions, and which is the most remarkable piece of sculpture in the basilica. This bomb ranks among the finest efforts of modern sculpture, and by its execution. When the first gendarmes reached Canova established his reputation. When the first gendarmes reached the spot the scaffolding was fund to be smouldering, but this fire was easily extinguished. The tomb was found to be absolutely uninjured, and even the pavement shows scarcely any signs of the explosion.

An examination of the remains of the bomb led to the supposition, unless it was crudely prepared on purpose to mislead, that it was manufactured in the country and brought into Rome. It is believed that the bomb had a very long fuse in order to enable the criminal to gain the plaza before the explosion. It has been impossible to trace him, and no one has any recollection of seeing a man who, by his movements, might have aroused suspicion.

DEDICATED IOWA MONUMENT.

Shaft Commemorates Services of Williamson's Brigade.

Chattanooga, Tenn., Nov. 20.—Practically forty-three years from the battle of Lookout Mountain, the state of Iowa Monday morning dedicated a monument on the scene of the ahrdest fighting.

A large delegation from the state headed by Governor Cummins being present. The shaft commemorates the services of Williamson's brigade, Asterhaus divisions, Fifteenth army corps, to which the Fourth, Twenty-fifth and Thirtieth Iowa infantry and First Iowa battery belonged. Addresses were made by Governor Cummins, General J. B. Weaver, the expolitician himself an Iowa soldier, and Colonel Abernathy of the Ninth Iowa. Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock another monument at Sherman Heights, on Missionary Ridge, was dedicated. It honors the Fifth, Sixth, and Tenth Iowa volunteer infantry. Governor Cummins spoke as also did Captain Head, of the Tenth Iowa, and Hon. E. Kendall, of Iwo.

These monuments which are elaborate and costly, mark the right and left of the union line of attack in the battles, raising the siege of Chattanooga Nov. 23, 24 and 25, 1863. On this trip Governor Cummins has dedicated Iowa monuments at Vicksburg, Miss., and Andersonville, Ga.

A. F. of L. for Woman's Suffrage.

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 20.—The American Federation of Labor, in convention here Monday declared for women's suffrage with only one dissenting vote. The convention adopted a resolution which calls upon the judiciary committee of the national house of representatives to report to the house the joint resolution providing for submitting to the legislature an amendment to the constitution of the United States, allowing women to vote. Other resolutions adopted were as follows: Indorsing and urging the passage of Golden's bill in congress to safeguard passengers on ocean steamers so as to prevent such disasters as the Slocum and Valencia horrors. Calling on the president of the United State to apply the the Chinese exclusion act to the shipping seamen, cooks, etc., or vessels flying the American flag.

Establish Permanent Protectorate.

New York, Nov. 20.—Prominent members of the liberal party in Cuba according to Captain Cook, a lawyer of this city, who says he is counsel here for certain liberal interests, have a plan afoot for the establishment of a permanent protectorate in Cuba by the American government. He says it is supported by the foreign interests of that company and the purpose to petition the president and congress early in January to pass a bill making Cuba a protectorate. Another bill is to be presented in the Cuban congress for the same purpose. Captain Cook declared Saturday in an interview that bills to this end have already been drawn and forwarded to Cuba for the approval of those interested.

Missing Man Found.

Adairsville, Ga., Nov. 20.—The excitement in regard to the disappearance of Charles Burley some days ago has been cleared up. Mr. Burley has been found at Quitman, Ga., where he is without funds. Money was sent him to return home. He wrote to his people for funds, but gave no reason for his sudden leaving from home.

Grant Increase in Wages.

Norfolk, Va., Nov. 20.—The Norfolk and Western railway, beginning Dec. 1, will grant an increase of 10 per cent in wages to all employes now receiving less than $200 per month.

SHIPS IN COLLISION; 35 PEOPLE DROWNED

Tragedy Result of Misunderstanding of Orders.

SHOCKING LOSS OF HUMAN LIFE

Collision Came So Suddenly that Almost Half of the Passengers Were Caught Off Their Guard—Ship Sank Within Five Minutes.

Seattle, Wash., Nov. 20—In a collision between the steamer Jeanie belonging to the Alaska Coast company, Captain Mason, and the Puget Sound steamer Dix, belonging to the Blakeley Point Transport company, 35 people, were drowned Sunday night. There were 79 passengers on board.

The cause of the accident was a misunderstanding of signals. The Jeanie struck the Dix on her starboard side just above midship and keeled her over. She filled with water, then righted and went down stern first, sinking within five minutes of the time of the collision.

The Dix was on her way to Port Blakeley from Seattle and the Jeanie was going to Smith Cove to Tacoma to unload ore for the smelter.

Chaffeur Strike Ended.

New York, Nov. 20.—The auto drivers' strike ended early Monday when a settlement was reached between a committee representing the men and officials of the New York Transportation company. The strike has been productive of more scenes of disorder than any strike in New York for years, excepting the street car strike. Since the strike began, on Oct. 25, there have been sixty-five arrests. The men gained an increase in wages, but did not get the work-day shortened. The strikers waived their demands that the shop be made a union one. The men, however, are given the right to maintain their own union.

Mme. Calve Reported Berothed.

Paris, Nov. 20.—The vague rumors which have been circulated here for several days to the effect that Mme. Calve was betrothed to a rich American and would never again appear on the operatic stage are apparently confirmed. Sunday night, having quietly left her apartment, the singer left Paris for a long period after confiding the news to a few intimate friends, but demanding a pledge of secrecy regarding the name of her future husband. Mme. Calve's servants said she went away with her affianced but they were unable to give either their destination or his name.

Reorganizes Panama Canal Work.

New York, Nov. 20.—A Panama special to the Herald says that before Roosevelt sailed Sunday night he signed an executive order reorganizing the Panama canal work on a basis similar to that of most great railroads. Under the new order the building of the canal will be under the management of a chairman, chief engineer, general council, chief sanitary officer, purchasing officer, auditor, disbursing officer and manager of labor quarters.

Pioneer Newspaper Man Dead.

Dothan, Ala., Nov. 20.—T. E. Williams, president of the Third National bank, died here Monday morning at 2 o'clock, after a seven hours' illness with apoplexy. He was Dothan's pioneer business citizen and newspaper man. Mr. Williams established the Light, the first newspaper ever published here. Later he established the Dothan Daily Eagle. He was 43 years old at the time of his death.

Accepts Knoxville Pastorate.

Knoxville, Tenn., Nov. 20.—Rev. Thomas Ashburn, of Evansville, Ind., has accepted a call to the pastorate of the First Cumberland Presbyterian church, this city, effective between December 1 and January 1. The church will retain its present position, and does not expect to lose the minister, moreover.

THE CIRCUIT COURT.

Judge Palmer Making Good Progress. Several Cases Disposed Of.

The circuit court convened at 8:30 o'clock Tuesday morning and proceeded immediately to get down to business.

The following cases were disposed of:

State vs. Chas. Williams, assault with intent to murder. Defendant was arraigned and pleaded not guilty. Jury called and sworn, evidence submitted, case argued, and jury returned a verdict of not guilty.

State vs. Jim Williams, breaking and entering, verdict of guilty.

State vs. Taylor Morgan. Defendant arraigned and pleaded guilty of forgery in two charges.

State vs. F. C. Reinhardt, selling liquor in county voting against sale of same. Defendant arraigned and pleaded not guilty.

State vs. Ben Brown, a blind negro, selling liquor in a county voting against the sale of same. Defendant arraigned and pleaded not guilty.

The last case of the day was that of the State vs. Jack Barnes, murder in the first degree. The defendant was arraigned and pleadod not guilty, whereupon a jury was sworn and the case was submitted to the court. The court adjourned at 5 o'clock for an evening session. At seven o'clock the court convened and proceeded with the case, which was delivered to the jury a little after 9 o'clock. The verdict was murder in the second degree.

SANTA FE RIVER BRIDGE BURNED

Reported Delay of Trains Over the West Coast Division of A. C. L.

A report has reached this city that the railroad bridge over the Santa Fe river, Atlantic Coast Line, near High Springs, was burned some time during Monday night, which caused the delay of West Coast trains during Tuesday, a transfer at the river being necessary.

There is no definite information, but those from High Springs who are supposed to be in a position to know, state that the information is correct.

The West Coast division of the Atlantic Coast Line, while not as up-to-date in passenger service as other divisions, is one of the most important on the system, and it is hoped that the service will be restored within the next day or two.

Jones-Reinhardt.

William Jones and Miss Ida Reinhardt, the accomplished daughter of Fred C. Reinhardt, were married at the home of the bride's father Monday evening, Judge H. G. Mason officiating.

Mr. Jones is a well known young man in this section. He has been for some time assistant track foreman of the Atlantic Coast Line. The bride, while residing here only a short time, has made many friends by her amiable disposition, who wish her much happiness in her married life.

Why Vinol Is Better Than Any Other Remedy to Restore

Health and Strength

Vinol

Because Vinol is a real Cod Liver Preparation and does not contain a single disagreeable or harmful ingredient and is not a secret formula.

Because Vinol contains all the medicinal elements—the soothing, healing, strengthening and flesh creative properties of Cod Liver Oil—but without oil or grease.

Because Vinol tones up the system, strengthens every organ, nerve, muscle and fibre of the whole body and thus overcomes weakness by thoroughly eradicating the cause of disease.

That's Why Vinol is altogether different and better than any other remedy for Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, and all Throat, Lung and Wasting Diseases.

That's Why Vinol Restores Health and Strength to Delicate Children, Feeble Old People, Weak and Sickly Persons, Nursing Mothers, and Convalescents.

WOODMEN TO TAMPA.

Quite a delegation of members of Alachua Camp No. 5, Woodmen of the World, left Tuesday for Tampa, where the State Fair has kindly consented to set aside Wednesday for Woodmen's Day.

The Woodmen from all over Florida will be present, and big preparations are being made by the Tampa lodge to entertain them. There will be a big parade, followed by an impressive program of literary exercises and speeches, which is bound to interest every Woodman who attends.

Among the delegation who left here were Joseph Brooks, counsel commander; Pat Y. Smith, Engineer Atwell, W. D. Fagan, Edward Fagan and C. E. Hayes, all enthusiastic members of the local lodge.

The Tampa brothers have a State reputation for hospitality, and it goes without saying that they will make Woodmen's Day one of the features of the great show.

A HIGH RECOGNITION.

First National Bank Designated As a United States Depository.

One of the most complimentary recognitions ever given the First National Bank of Gainesville was received by Cashier Taylor from the Treasury Department at Washington a day or two ago, the department notifying Mr. Taylor that the First National had been appointed a United States depository. This recognition came as a deserved reward, and, while it will give the banking institution a prestige, it also affords extra advantage for Gainesville in a financial way.

The United States land office, which is located in this city and which has been compelled to express its deposits at regular intervals to Tampa, may now make its deposits here. The business of the land office is very extensive, and the thousands of dollars each month which have been shipped will now be deposited here.

Didn't Have a Dance.

P. I. Hathcox, an old friend and subscriber, by personal letter to the publisher of The Sun, desires to correct the statement of the Jonesville correspondent of this paper that a dance was held at his home on a recent date.

Mr. Hathcox is evidently very much opposed to dancing, and intimates that he would not have such a function transpire at his home, where dancing is never indulged in. He believes that a mistake has been made, and that the Jonesville correspondent meant to give some other name.

Sunday School Convention.

The annual meeting of the Florida Sunday School Convention will meet in Jacksonville on December 4th to 6th.

The convention, being undenominational, every Sunday school is urgently requested to send delegates. Distinguished speakers will be present, and altogether a most interesting meeting is anticipated.

Names of delegates proposing to attend should be sent to J. H. McLauren, Jacksonville, Fla., who will make arrangements for their entertainment.

COLE BROS.' BIG CIRCUS.

This Aggregation Will Appear in Gainesville, November 22

Few aerilists, no matter how daring, work without first minimizing their danger by the erection of a safety net directly under them and ten or a dozen feet above the ground. More fearless and death defying than all others, the performers with Cole Brothers' United Shows, which will exhibit on November 22, in Gainesville, use neither life belts or nets, depending entirely upon their own courage, confidence and powers. The terrifically startling and hair-raising feats these conceded meteoric kings and queens perform high above the heads of the fear-gasping spectators are such few persons dare risk. The members of one troupe, particularly, appear to be without nerves or fear. They pass and repass from bar to bar, from ring to ring, swinging in the very dome of the huge tent, and subsequently from bar to landing-place with cleverness, certainty and precision, showing the loftiest possible training, coupled with fearfully amazing skill and judgment. The members of another family actually fly through space, their bodies revolving like swiftly-moving balls. They toss, catch and pass each other with astounding unconcern. The many other performers with Cole Brothers are likewise post-graduates of their professions, having been culled from the topmost circles of American and European artists. Then there are scores of marvelously educated wild and tamed animals and a whole university of ludicrous clowns. These funny fellows cause children to go into paroxysms of laughter and elicit smiles from even savants, philosophers and the gravest of scientists. They send spinsters and bachelors into ecstasies of merriment. Lack of space prevents the naming of all the mighty features to be found in these big shows; suffice to say they are the newest and greatest money can procure.

HEALTHY PLANTS

Require the Most Careful Attention as Well as Good Soil.

Did you ever see a rosebush which—despite the most beneficent environment of soil—of sunshine—and of atmosphere,—seemed never to achieve a healthy growth.

A ton of manure will not help a plant that has a canker eating out its heart.

You must destroy the cause before you can remove the effect.

You cannot cure Dandruff and Baldness by rubbing on hair lotions, and rubbing in vaseline, etc.

You must look to the cause of the trouble—it's a germ at the roots of your hair which causes it to fall out.

Judson Jottings.

Judson, Nov. 19.—Some real estate changed hands last week. Simon Coleman, near Trenton, sold his place to Green McElroy of Columbia county. The consideration was one thousand dollars.

Some surveyors passed Judson last Sunday. They said they were surveying a railroad route to Tampa and it was probable that the railroad would come by Judson.

Ira Carter of Newberry was here last week, and he bought about fifty bales of cotton. He paid 24 and 25 cents per pound for it.

"There is a bust of Lucifer in the periodical room, and he wasn't an Irishman."

LETTER FROM MR. HOLLEY.

He Writes Interestingly of Augusta, Its Surroundings and Churches.

Augusta, Ga., Nov. 17.—The Augustans have recently pulled off the Georgia-Carolina Fair, which was declared by all its patrons to be a great success. For six days the people of the city and the adjoining country thronged the grounds Several days more than fifteen thousand persons passed through the gates. All the exhibits were fine. Many farmers took as high as two hundred dollars' worth of premiums.

The farming interest around Augusta this year has not proved so great a success as during the past two years. For five months we had rain almost every day, thereby preventing the farmers from cultivating their crops. Notwithstanding poor crops and low prices for cotton, farm lands are high and very few well improved farms are offered for sale.

The religious interests of the city seems to be on the up-grade. All the churches are supplied with efficient pastors and are making constant headway. Now that the North Georgia Conference convenes next week several changes in the Methodist churches are anticipated. One of the leading pastors of the Methodist Church has been transferred on account of the time limit with the M. E. Conference.

The Green St. Presbyterian Church has built an eighteen-thousand-dollar house of worship during the year, and now the membership is fearful that they will lose their pastor, Rev. George Guille. The pastor has been called to the Westminster Church in Atlanta, and it is feared by his people that he will accept.

The work of the Second Church, of which the writer is pastor, has made constant progress during the past year. We have now about 525 members and receive others at almost every service. During the year the church has raised for expenses and benevolence and buildings about $3 000. We now have our lots and in sight about $6,000 with which to begin our new edifice. We propose to begin work on the building about January 1st, 1907.

In appreciation of the services of the pastor, his salary has been increased twenty per cent. It is a pleasure to work with a people who thus show their appreciation of a man's services.

The Gainesville Baptist Church has always been ready to respond in appreciation of their pastor's services. No more faithful body of Christians can be found than in that goodly city.

We have read with interest the development of Gainesville. It is a source of pleasure to every former Gainesvillian to read of the progress made and the success of the citizens in landing the University. I feel confident that Gainesville will always prove herself worthy of the University and give its hearty support to those who are at its head. May Gainesville's prosperity ever be constant.

J. B. HOLLEY.

HE MAY BE DOUBLY GUILTY.

Assailant of Mrs. Camp Charged with Similar Crime.

Atlanta, Nov. 20.—Will Johnson, the negro, who was arrested last Friday by County Policeman Bunger, and lodged in the Tower on suspicion of having assaulted Mrs. J. N. Camp, on Nov. 13, was positively identified by Mrs. George Hembree Sunday as the man who attempted to assault her about a month ago in Oakland City.

Mrs. Hembree went to the Tower at the request of Chief Turner, of the county police, for the purpose of looking at Johnson. When the negro was brought before her she identified him as her assailant.

Johnson, at the time of his arrest, had upon his person, two women's skirts and other articles of women's clothing, and as Mrs. Camp's assailant burglarized the house at the time of the assault, these articles will play an important part in his identification.

Mrs. Camp could not go to the Tower Sunday to see the negro, and it is not known when she will be physically able to undergo the ordeal.

Johnson is the negro whose description exactly corresponded to that given by Mrs. Camp of her assailant, and whose arrest during the trial of Joe Glenn, charged with that crime, saved that negro's life when circumstantial evidence had sounded his doom.

Students Shot a Policeman.

Fayetteville, Ark., Nov. 20.—Henry Rough, a policeman, was shot and seriously injured here during a riot with students of the university of Arkansas. Three hundred college boys were parading the streets and giving their college yells because of an athletic victory over a rival college. When the officer asked the students to be less riotous they defied him, and he arrested one of them. The students then surrounded the officer and in the melee which followed he was shot in the back. Rough promptly released the boy under arrest and fired several shots at the fleeing crowd, but none took effect.

Cultivate Regular Habits.

There can be no question that men of regular habits are healthier, happier, live longer and do more than those who obey caprice and impulse. The adoption of hygienic habits saves the nervous system an enormous amount of friction and waste. It preserves vitality. Regularity economizes not only physical stamina, but time as well. The man who knows no system in the details of his life, who exhausts nature at the instance of a passing whim, who drinks and smokes to excess, who wastes the talents bestowed upon him, is the one who must sooner or later fall a victim to disease. Regularity with moderation in all things should be the motto of life, and it should be remembered that regularity does not necessarily preclude the enjoyment of variety. A certain amount of variety prevents man from becoming a mere machine, but variety should not interfere with those regular habits of life which are necessary to the maintenance of health.

The Caterpillar.

The caterpillar spends his life in trying to keep out of everybody's way. Some species hide on the under surface of leaves, others on the stems or blades of grass, which serve them as food; others again build little nests for concealment or else they lie snugly hidden between the curled edges of leaves, which they draw close together until the opposite edges meet. The caterpillar is a sociable creature in his own family. He knows that there is safety in numbers, and you will find whole companies feeding side by side while keeping a sharp lookout for their bird enemies, but when a caterpillar is by himself he scarcely dares to move for fear of attracting attention. Even when he is obliged to change his skin he doesn't venture to leave his old coat lying around. The moment that he takes it off he eats it. The caterpillars that live in companies shed their skin boldly. Only the poor solitary fellows feel forced to swallow their old clothes.

ANCIENTS AND ANIMALS.

The knowledge of animals and their habits which existed among the ancient Greeks and Romans was most fantastic.

Among other snakes described in the ancient natural histories, for example, was the basilisk, which Pliny called the "king of serpents." According to the description, it was six feet long, wore a white crest on its head and had a skin spotted with white. Such was the abundance of its venom, according to these reports, that it made the body shine all over. The air was poisoned where this vile reptile passed, and great plants were envenomed with its subtle and luminous fluid, while the birds in turn fell before the odor exhaled by the trees. But this monster was an easy prey to the weasel. The dragon was the largest of serpents and inhabited especially Ethiopia and Egypt. When he flew out of his cavern he furrowed the air with such violence that it gleamed with fire. His mouth was small, and it was not the wounds which it inflicted which made him so formidable, but the strangling power of his tail, which was capable of destroying even elephants.

It is interesting to notice that the mythical dragon was already evolving toward the boa constrictor. The real siren lived in Arabia and "was a sort of white serpent which ran so marvelously that most men say it flew."

Most of the facts which are recorded concerning birds are more accurate, for the sport of falconry only made men observers of their habits. Still there are a few strange myths concerning the eagle. He was said to seize his young in his talons and to make them fix their eyes on the burning rays of the sun. Those alone that could gaze without flinching were kept and nourished as worthy of life. "This is not cruelty," says the simple writer, "but judgment." The eagle had the power of renewing youth. Mounting higher and higher till his plumes were burned by the sun, he fell into a fountain, where he bathed three times and was thoroughly rejuvenated.

The habits of the ostrich, an old book said, were regulated by a star named Virgil. When the star began to rise the astute bird laid its eggs, covered them with sand and left their hatching to the sun. Another remarkable thing was the influence which the chanticleer exercised over the king of beasts. His shrill crow put him in full flight—even Pliny says so—but to do this his plumage had to be pure white.

It would not be doing justice to the middle ages if the account of the unicorn was withheld. It was the size of a horse, though its legs were shorter, and its hide had generally a tanned color. There were three kinds. The magnificent white unicorn had a purple head and blue eyes. The horn was a cubit in length, white in the lower part, ebony in the middle and red at the end. It had the head of a stag and the tail of a boar. The egilsserion was like a gigantic deer and had a very sharp horn. The monoceros was like an ox. The ordinary unicorn of the middle ages had a horn three feet in length and so sharp and hard that nothing could resist it. When he prepared to fight the elephant, the animal he hated most of all, he sharpened his horn against a stone and when the day of battle came dealt the enemy a fatal blow in the paunch. This noble animal fell an easy prey to the fascinations of innocence and virtue. In India, especially among the dwellers of the Ganges, when it was desired to tame a unicorn a young and virtuous girl was chosen and led to his cave. The animal at once appeared and did homage to the damsel and was easily caught and tamed by the engaging wiles of the maiden.

There is No Reason

Why your baby should be thin, and fretful during the night. Worms are the cause of thin, sickly babies. It is natural that a healthy baby should be fat and sleep well. If your baby does not retain its food, don't experiment with colic cures and other medicine, but try a bottle of White's Cream Vermifuge, and you will soon see your baby have color and laugh as it should. Cry of "Fire!" Caused Panic.

New Orleans, La., Nov. 20.—A small panic was caused at the Lyric theater during a matinee performance by some person shouting "Fire!" The audience rose en masse and was rushing toward the exits when some level-headed person in the audience cried that it was only a small fire across the street and there was no danger. The play was resumed shortly after the audience calmed down. Several women fainted but otherwise no one was injured.

SHIPS WRECKED BY GALE.

Three Lake Superior Steamers Are Driven Ashore.

Fort William, Ont., Nov. 19.—In the terrific gale which has raged on Lake Superior for two days the Canadian steamer Theano, Captain Geo. Pearson, Sunday struck a rock four miles east of Thunder Cape, and was wrecked. The American steamer Philip Minch, and the Canadian steamer Strathcona, were also blown ashore during the storm and the former may be a total loss. The crews of all three steamers are safe.

When the Theano struck, the wind was blowing 50 miles an hour, and the blinding snow caused the ship to run north of the entrance to Thunder Bay. The steamer struck bow-on and the stern swung around against the rocks, crushing in the steel sides of the ship. The crew, numbering twenty, remained on the vessel for two hours after they struck, but they were compelled to take to the lifeboats for safety. A few moments after the crew had abandoned the ship the boilers exploded and the shattered hull slid off the rock into deep water.

Almost overcome by exposure, ten members of the Theano's crew reached Port Arthur Sunday, after being buffeted about by the storm for half a day in an open boat. The lifeboat in which the remaining half of the crew had sought safety was picked up by the steamer Iraoquais, which brought the men here.

The Theana was a steel steamer, at 1,646 tons and was valued at $80,000. It was owned by the Algoma Central Railway company and was bound for Fort William with a cargo of steel rails.

A Year of Blood.

The year 1908 will long be remembered in the home of F. N. Tacket of Alliance, Ky., as a year of blood, which flowed so copiously from Mr. Tacket's lungs that death seemed very near. He writes: "Severe bleeding from the lungs and a frightful cough had brought me at death's door, when I began taking Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, with the astonishing result that after taking four bottles I was completely restored, and as time has proven, permanently cured." Guaranteed for sore lungs, coughs and colds, at all drug stores. Price, 50c and $1. Trial bottle free.

Condemned to Suspension.

Buffalo, N. Y., Nov. 20.—The Rev. Dr. Algernon S. Crapsey, of St. Andrews Episcopal church, of Rochester, is condemned to suspension from the church as a result of the decision of the ecclesiastical court of review which it made public Monday. The court of review sustains the decision of the lower court which was that Dr. Crapsey should be suspended for heretical teachings. The decision as announced was as follows: "The court of review has affirmed unanimously the decision of the lower court in the case of Rev. Algernon S. Crapsey, D.D."

Made Happy For Life.

Great happiness came into the home of S. C. Blair, school superintendent at St. Albans, W. Va., when his little daughter was restored from the dreadful complaint he names. He says: "My little daughter had St. Vitus' dance, which yielded to no treatment but grew steadily worse, until as a last resort we tried Electric Bitters, and I rejoice to say, three bottles effected a complete cure." Quick, sure cure for nervous complaints, general debility, female weaknesses, impoverished blood and malaria. Guaranteed by all drug stores. Price, 50c.

Two Killed in Freight Collision.

Ripley, Tenn., Nov. 20.—William Scott, a trainman, and John Drumweight, a passenger, were killed and three persons were injured in a rear-end collision between two freight trains on the Illinois Central railroad near here. Those injured were A. F. Posey and John S. Morris, of Fulton, Ky., and Conductor Abernathy. Posey was the most severely injured, sustaining a broken leg and having an eye put out. The others were not seriously injured. Those killed and injured were seated in the caboose of the forward coach when the collision occurred.

Tug Lost Off Mobile.

Mobile, Ala., Nov. 20.—News has been received here that the tug was lost off Mobile bar on her way to Progresso while in tow of the Cuban steamer Vultabajo. The tug had been purchased by a Mexican company and it was intended she should tow barges in the surrounding waters of Progresso. Heavy weather was encountered and the tug foundered and was lost. Details of the loss cannot be obtained until the return of the Vultabajo to this port.

Texas Troops Guard Negro.

Center, Tex., Nov. 20.—There has been considerable excitement over the killing of Dr. Paul by Dick Garrett, a negro, and the militia company from Timpson has been on guard at the jail. William Paul, brother of the dead man, prevented a lynching Sunday night by an address to the crowd gathered about the jail. The grand jury assembled Monday and Garrett will be given a speedy trial.

DELIRIUM TREMENS.

Cause and Symptoms of a Dreadful Disease From Alcohol.

The conclusive symptom of chronic inebriety is delirium tremens, "the horrors," says Mr. Hilburn. None but the true inebriate gets it, and most inebriates get it sooner or later, though some escape the actual delirium that is its typical feature. It must not be confused with alcoholic insanity, the violent dementia brought on in some persons by amounts of alcohol often too small to cause intoxication. True delirium tremens is literally the result of soaking. It comes on when the tissues are saturated with alcohol. Usually it appears at the end of a long spree, or, in the case of a steady drinker, when he has been taking more than his usual allowance. But as alcohol remains in the tissues from three to eight days, the delirium may develop some time after the spree, whereupon the victim usually ascribes it to the fact that he gave up alcohol and took to water. It is a state of collapse, insomnia, trembling, acute terror and usually violent delirium, which lasts from two to five days. "Menagerie delirium," the vision of violet mice and iridescent snakes, generally supposed to prevail, is not very common, snakes being rarer than other animals.

The ordinary delirium centers about the usual occupation of the patient. Its violence can be judged by the degree to which his visions are independent of his will, and by the terror they cause him. A teamster, for instance, usually drives horses in his delirium. If they obey him, he will get well, but if they back against his orders or bolt, he is thrown into a state of extreme terror and is pretty certain to die. The delusions of a first attack are always terrifying, but in later recurrences the experienced drinker is often aware of his condition and watches his own hallucinations with a sort of impersonal amusement. The supposedly harmless malt liquors are slower in bringing on delirium tremens than whisky, but usually bring on uglier attacks. Contrary to general opinion, they are responsible for a considerable share of the inebriety of this country. Some years ago Dr. Charles L. Dana, at that time visiting physician to Bellevue hospital, recorded the form of liquor used by nearly 200 inebriate patients. A third drank whisky, nearly a third beer and whisky and a quarter malt liquors altogether. The rest took anything that contained alcohol. There are virtually no wine drinking inebriates in this country.—American Magazine.

The New Pure Food and Drug Law.

We are pleased to announce that Foley's Honey and Tar for coughs, colds and lung troubles is not affected by the National Pure Food and Drug law as it contains no opiates or other harmful drugs, and we recommend it as a safe remedy for children and adults. J. W. McCollum & Co.

Generosity.

Never be sorry for any generous thing that you ever did, even if it was betrayed. Never be sorry that you were magnanimous if the man was mean afterward. Never be sorry that you gave. It was right for you to give even if you were imposed upon. You cannot afford to keep on the safe side by being mean.

Backache, "The Blues"

How often do we hear women say: "It seems as though my back would break," or "Don't speak to me, I am all out of sorts"? These significant remarks prove that the system requires attention.

Backache and "the blues" are direct symptoms of an inward trouble which will sooner or later declare itself. It may be caused by diseased kidneys or some derangement of the organs. Nature requires assistance and at once, and Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound instantly asserts its curative powers in all those peculiar ailments of women. It has been the standby of intelligent American women for twenty years, and the best judges agree that it is the most universally successful remedy for woman's ills known to medicine.

Read the convincing testimonials of Mrs. Holmes and Mrs. Cotrely.

Mrs. J. C. Holmes, of Larimore, North Dakota, writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"I have suffered everything with backache and female trouble—I let the trouble run on until my system was in such a condition that I was unable to be about, and then it was I commenced to use Lydia Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. If I had only known how much suffering I would have saved I should have taken it months sooner—for a few weeks' treatment made me well and strong. My backaches and headaches are all gone and I suffer no pain at my monthly periods, whereas before I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I suffered intense pain."

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"I feel it my duty to tell all suffering women of the relief I have found in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. When I commenced taking the Compound I suffered everything with backaches, headaches, female troubles. I am completely cured, enjoy the best of health, and I owe it to you."

When women are troubled with irregular, suppressed or painful periods, weakness, displacements or ulceration, that bearing-down feeling, inflammation of the female organs, backache, bloating (or flatulence), general debility, indigestion and nervous prostration, or are beset with such symptoms as dizziness, faintness, lassitude, extreme ability, irritability, nervousness, sleeplessness, melancholy, "all gone" feelings, "want-to-be-left-alone" feelings, blues and hopelessness, they should remember there is one tried and true remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once removes such troubles.

No other medicine has such a record of cures of female troubles. No other medicine in the world has received such widespread and unqualified endorsement. Refuse to buy any substitute.

FREE ADVICE TO WOMEN

Remember, every woman is cordially invited to write to Mrs. Pinkham. If there is anything about her symptoms she does not understand. Mrs. Pinkham is the daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham, her assistant before her decease, and for twenty-five years she her advice has been freely and gratefully given to every ailing woman who asks for it. Her advice and medicine have restored to health innumerable women. Address, Lynn, Mass.

The empire of Russia is rich in horses. According to the statistics of the Department of Agriculture at Washington, there are on earth 60,455,000 horses, of which Russia alone has 20,000,000, averaging twenty-five horses per hundred inhabitants.

The uses made of peat other than fuel are increasing. It is used largely as a body for stock and food manufacture. Now we are informed that it makes excellent coarse paper of a fine dark slate color, valuable for wrapping paper, for packing purposes and for protection under carpets.

David Rankin of Tarkio, Mo., is now 81 years old and he never fails to go the rounds of his farms in good weather. He owns fourteen big farms containing 22,000 acres of land, and from these farms and his cattle and hogs he cleared over $100,000 in 1905. This year is expected to be equally as profitable. This, the largest farmer in the United States, finds returns in the business.

On his recently completed tour around the world Mr. Bryan was accompanied by his wife, who put in typewriting all the newspaper articles he prepared. Mrs. Bryan not only studied law and was admitted to the bar soon after she married her then undistinguished husband, but she also learned to manipulate the typewriter as a further means of being of practical help to him in his work.

Work is a moral and physical uplifter; it is a panacea for sorrow; idleness brings moral decay and furnishes an incentive to crime. The avalanche of crime that is sweeping over our beautiful land is largely due to the fact that too many would rather steal than work. The life of duty, not the life of mere ease or mere pleasure, is the kind of life which makes the great men and women. The first prize that life offers is the chance to work at work worth doing.

Lovers of tobacco in its various seductive forms, who have been at times a trifle conscience smitten by reason of the alleged deplorable effects of the tobacco habit upon the mind and body should henceforth be able to smoke their pipes in peace since no less an authority than The London Lancet, the foremost journal of the medical world, has risen up to declare in the most deliberate and positive way that tobacco smoke contains an appreciable amount of formaldehyde, one of the most powerful of antiseptics and germ killers.

It may cause no less surprise than uneasiness to learn that we are likely to run short of iron inside of a single century if we keep up the present rate of consumption, figures Leslie's Weekly. As a matter of fact, we are more likely to increase the consumption than we are to reduce it. The world has only 10,000,000,000 tons of iron ore available. Of these, Germany has twice as many tons as the United States. Russia and France each have [illegible] tons more than this country. Our consumption is placed at [illegible], which is more than a third of the world's total consumption, and far in advance of the present rate of production.

NEW GENERAL STATUTES.

The Sun has been furnished with the following information regarding the new General Statutes, for which we are indebted to Hon. J. C. B. Koonce of Sumterville, member of the Revision Committee. Mr. Koonce says:

"My attention has been called to the fact that the Governor's proclamation on the General Statutes of Florida bears date of Nov 1st, which will make the new book effectual December 1st. In view of the fact that the book has not yet been thoroughly distributed over the State, I think it might be of interest to the profession and those who may have occasion to use the book to give some information which will enable them to more readily familiarize themselves with the work.

"In the first place, the general plan of the book is the same as that of the Revised Statutes of '92, which it supersedes. For the convenience of the bar of the State in comparing the work and making reference, the Revision Commissioners adopted the plan of following each section of the new book with the section number of the same matter in the Revised Statutes. For example, following the figures 2250, which indicates that section of the General Statutes, appear in parentheses the figures (1773). This indicates that Section 1773 of the Revised Statutes of 1892 is brought forward in the General Statutes as Section 2250. The words and figures on the margin of the page opposite this section give the original act from which the section was compiled in the Revised Statutes of '92, towit, Sec. 2, of Ch. 3129, Acts of 1879. Every section which is taken from any act subsequent to the Revised Statutes of 1892 is so noted on the margin opposite the section; for example, Section 1742 was taken from Section 1 of Chapter 5124, acts of 1903. Where no reference is given on margin of page or by figures in parentheses it indicates that it is a section added by the Revisors (adopted, of course, by the Legislature of 1905). For instance, Section 1421 is a section added in this way, and this section should be noted by the bar of the State, as it is one requiring duplicate pleadings.

"Sometimes we changed the wording of a section, and in such cases the attention of the reader is called by the word 'Revised' in the margin. An example of this is Section 3633. Sometimes two or more acts are consolidated, and this is also noted in the margin, as, for example, Section 3387, being Section 2 of Chapter 4349, Acts of 1895, and Sec. 2 of Chapter 4190, Acts of 1893.

"Wherever a section of the Revised Statutes of '92 has been amended by a subsequent act of the Legislature it is so noted in margin; for example, Section 3410, this law was Section 2517 of Revised Statutes and it was amended by Sec. 1 of Chapter 4531, Acts 1897. Of course the same plan was followed where an act of the Legislature subsequent to the Revised Statutes was amended at a still later session of the Legislature, as, for example, Section 3752 is Section 5 of Chapter 5251, Acts of 1903, as amended by Chapter 5427, Acts of 1905.

"By keeping these things in mind it will be easy for anyone to note changes made in the laws and soon become as familiar with the General Statutes as with the old Statutes. The name General Statutes was adopted by the Legislature in order that the book might be easily distinguished from the Revision of '92. This book is necessarily a large one, containing 4,175 sections, besides the Constitution of the State and the United States, an appendix of the Acts of 1905 of a general and permanent nature not contained in the body of the work, with the index to same, and the General Index of nearly 300 pages.

"Those who wish the work in two volumes can purchase of the Secretary of the State the unbound volumes for $3 50. These they will find in two parts, the Constitution, and first, second and third divisions being in first part, and fourth and fifth divisions, the appendix and index in the second part. These can be bound separately, making the cost of the book only about one dollar more than the price the State will get for the bound volume ($5 00).

"As this book contains all the laws of Florida down to date, with copious annotations of the supreme court's construction of the same, it ought to be in the hands of every man in the State, that he might become acquainted with the Statute law of his State. The books can be had of Hon. H. Clay Crawford, Secretary of the State, Tallahassee, at $3.50 for the unbound and $5.00 for the bound volumes."

House Painting Problem.

"Since we've moved to Jersey and lived in a wooden house," said the bride, "I've evolved a new theory as to house painting. I'm thinking of writing a book, 'Every Man His Next Door Neighbor's House Painter.' I think red with cream trimmings is the prettiest color for a house surrounded with green grass and trees, and we've had our house at Fusilade painted that way. The neighbors, we find, all agree that it is hideous. Now, why should I, who comparatively seldom get a view of the outside of my own house, be allowed to inflict a nightmare on those who regard it as such, yet have to gaze at it by the hour perhaps? My next door neighbor, a poor, pallid invalid who ought to rejoice in red, loathes it, yet is obliged to see our house every time she looks from the sitting room where she spends her dreary life, while I, in turn, from the windows of my sewing room have to look directly at the cold, inhospitable gray of their house, which gives me the blues. We could enjoy their house if it were painted to suit us, and they could enjoy ours if it were according to their taste, so I'm going to start a reform, and everybody shall paint not his own house, but his next door neighbor's."—New York Press.

WORMS

"I had for years suffered from what medical men called Dyspepsia and Catarrh of the Stomach. In August I purchased a box of Cascarets and was surprised to find that I "had 'em"—yes—a wiggling, squirming mass left me. Judge our doctor's surprise when I showed him thirty feet, and in another day the remainder (about the same length) of a tapeworm that had been sapping my vitality for years. I have enjoyed the best of health ever since. I trust this testimonial will appeal to other sufferers."

SHIPS WRECKED BY GALE.

Three Lake Superior Steamers Are Driven Ashore.

Fort William, Ont., Nov. 19.—In the terrific gale which has raged on Lake Superior for two days the Canadian steamer Theano, Captain Geo. Pearson, Sunday struck a rock four miles east of Thunder Cape, and was wrecked. The American steamer Philip Minch, and the Canadian steamer Strathcona, were also blown ashore during the storm and the former may be a total loss. The crews of all three steamers are safe.

When the Theano struck, the wind was blowing 50 miles an hour, and the blinding snow caused the ship to run north of the entrance to Thunder Bay. The steamer struck bow-on and the stern swung around against the rocks, crushing in the steel sides of the ship. The crew, numbering twenty, remained on the vessel for two hours after they struck, but they were compelled to take to the lifeboats for safety. A few moments after the crew had abandoned the ship the boilers exploded and the shattered hull slid off the rock into deep water.

Almost overcome by exposure, ten members of the Theano's crew reached Port Arthur Sunday, after being buffeted about by the storm for half a day in an open boat. The lifeboat in which the remaining half of the crew had sought safety was picked up by the steamer Iraoquais, which brought the men here.

The Theana was a steel steamer, at 1,646 tons and was valued at $80,000. It was owned by the Algoma Central Railway company and was bound for Fort William with a cargo of steel rails.

A Year of Blood.

The year 1903 will long be remembered in the home of F. N. Tacket of Alliance, Ky., as a year of blood, which flowed so copiously from Mr. Tacket's lungs that death seemed very near. He writes: "Severe bleeding from the lungs and a frightful cough had brought me at death's door, when I began taking Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, with the astonishing result that after taking four bottles I was completely restored, and as time has proven, permanently cured." Guaranteed for sore lungs, coughs and colds, at all drug stores. Price, 50c and $1. Trial bottle free.

Condemned to Suspension.

Buffalo, N. Y., Nov. 20.—The Rev. Dr. Algernon S. Crapsey, of St. Andrews Episcopal church, of Rochester, is condemned to suspension from the church as a result of the decision of the ecclesiastical court of review which it made public Monday. The court of review sustains the decision of the lower court which was that Dr. Crapsey should be suspended for heretical teachings. The decision as announced was as follows: "The court of review has affirmed unanimously the decision of the lower court in the case of Rev. Algernon S. Crapsey, D.D."

Made Happy For Life.

Great happiness came into the home of S. C. Blair, school superintendent at St. Albans, W. Va., when his little daughter was restored from the dreadful complaint he names. He says: "My little daughter had St. Vitus' dance, which yielded to no treatment but grew steadily worse, until as a last resort we tried Electric Bitters, and I rejoice to say, three bottles effected a complete cure." Quick, sure cure for nervous complaints, general debility, female weaknesses, impoverished blood and malaria. Guaranteed by all drug stores. Price, 50c.

Two Killed in Freight Collision.

Ripley, Tenn., Nov. 20.—William Scott, a trainman, and John Drumweight, a passenger, were killed and three persons were injured in a rear-end collision between two freight trains on the Illinois Central railroad near here. Those injured were A. F. Posey and John S. Morris, of Fulton, Ky., and Conductor Abernathy. Posey was the most severely injured, sustaining a broken leg and having an eye put out. The others were not seriously injured. Those killed and injured were seated in the caboose of the forward coach when the collision occurred.

Tug Lost Off Mobile.

Mobile, Ala., Nov. 20.—News has been received here that the tug was lost off Mobile bar on her way to Progresso while in tow of the Cuban steamer Vultabajo. The tug had been purchased by a Mexican company and it was intended she should tow barges in the surrounding waters of Progresso. Heavy weather was encountered and the tug foundered and was lost. Details of the loss cannot be obtained until the return of the Vultabajo to this port.

Texas Troops Guard Negro.

Center, Tex., Nov. 20.—There has been considerable excitement over the killing of Dr. Paul by Dick Garrett, a negro, and the militia company from Timpson has been on guard at the jail. William Paul, brother of the dead man, prevented a lynching Sunday night by an address to the crowd gathered about the jail. The grand jury assembled Monday and Garrett will be given a speedy trial.

DELIRIUM TREMENS.

Cause and Symptoms of a Dreadful Disease From Alcohol.

The conclusive symptom of chronic inebriety is delirium tremens, "the horrors," says Mr. Hilburn. None but the true inebriate gets it, and most inebriates get it sooner or later, though some escape the actual delirium that is its typical feature. It must not be confused with alcoholic insanity, the violent dementia brought on in some persons by amounts of alcohol often too small to cause intoxication. True delirium tremens is literally the result of soaking. It comes on when the tissues are saturated with alcohol. Usually it appears at the end of a long spree, or, in the case of a steady drinker, when he has been taking more than his usual allowance. But as alcohol remains in the tissues from three to eight days, the delirium may develop some time after the spree, whereupon the victim usually ascribes it to the fact that he gave up alcohol and took to water. It is a state of collapse, insomnia, trembling, acute terror and usually violent delirium, which lasts from two to five days. "Menagerie delirium," the vision of violet mice and iridescent snakes, generally supposed to prevail, is not very common, snakes being rarer than other animals.

The ordinary delirium centers about the usual occupation of the patient. Its violence can be judged by the degree to which his visions are independent of his will, and by the terror they cause him. A teamster, for instance, usually drives horses in his delirium. If they obey him, he will get well, but if they back against his orders or bolt, he is thrown into a state of extreme terror and is pretty certain to die. The delusions of a first attack are always terrifying, but in later recurrences the experienced drinker is often aware of his condition and watches his own hallucinations with a sort of impersonal amusement. The supposedly harmless malt liquors are slower in bringing on delirium tremens than whisky, but usually bring on uglier attacks. Contrary to general opinion, they are responsible for a considerable share of the inebriety of this country. Some years ago Dr. Charles L. Dana, at that time visiting physician to Bellevue hospital, recorded the form of liquor used by nearly 200 inebriate patients. A third drank whisky, nearly a third beer and whisky and a quarter malt liquors altogether. The rest took anything that contained alcohol. There are virtually no wine drinking inebriates in this country.—American Magazine.

The New Pure Food and Drug Law.

We are pleased to announce that Foley's Honey and Tar for coughs, colds and lung troubles is not affected by the National Pure Food and Drug law as it contains no opiates or other harmful drugs, and we recommend it as a safe remedy for children and adults. J. W. McCollum & Co.

Generosity.

Never be sorry for any generous thing that you ever did, even if it was betrayed. Never be sorry that you were magnanimous if the man was mean afterward. Never be sorry that you gave. It was right for you give even if you were imposed upon. You cannot afford to keep on the safe side by being mean.

Backache, "The Blues"

How often do we hear women say: "It seems as though my back would break," or "Don't speak to me, I am all out of sorts"? These significant remarks prove that the system requires attention.

Backache and "the blues" are direct symptoms of an inward trouble which will sooner or later declare itself. It may be caused by diseased kidneys or some derangement of the organs. Nature requires assistance and at once, and Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound instantly asserts its curative powers in all those peculiar ailments of women. It has been the standby of intelligent American women for twenty years, and the best judges agree that it is the most universally successful remedy for woman's ills known to medicine.

Read the convincing testimonials of Mrs. Holmes and Mrs. Cotrely.

Mrs. J. C. Holmes, of Larimore, North Dakota, writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"I have suffered everything with backache and female trouble—I let the trouble run on until my system was in such a condition that I was unable to be about, and then it was I commenced to use Lydia Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. If I had only known how much suffering I would have saved I should have taken it months sooner—for a few weeks' treatment made me well and strong. My backaches and headaches are all gone and I suffer no pain at my monthly periods, whereas before I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I suffered intense pain."

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

The empire of Russia is rich in horses. According to the statistics of the Department of Agriculture at Washington, there are on earth 60,455,000 horses, of which Russia alone has 32,000,000, averaging twenty-five horses per hundred inhabitants.

The uses made of peat other than fuel are increasing. It is used largely as a body for stock and food manufacture. Now we are informed that it makes excellent coarse paper of a fine dark slate color, valuable for wrapping paper, for packing purposes and for protection under carpets.

David Rankin of Tarkio, Mo., is now 80 years old and he never fails to go the rounds of his farms in good weather. He owns fourteen big farms containing 22,000 acres of land, and from these farms and his cattle and hogs he cleared over $100,000 in 1905. This year is expected to be equally as profitable. This, the largest farmer in the United States, finds returns in the business.

On his recently completed tour around the world Mr. Bryan was accompanied by his wife, who put in typewriting all the newspaper articles he prepared. Mrs. Bryan not only studied law and was admitted to the bar soon after she married her then undistinguished husband, but she also learned to manipulate the typewriter as a further means of being of practical help to him in his work.

Work is a moral and physical uplifter; it is a panacea for sorrow; idleness brings moral decay and furnishes an incentive to crime. The avalanche of crime that is sweeping over our beautiful land is largely due to the fact that too many would rather steal than work. The life of duty, not the life of mere ease or mere pleasure, is the kind of life which makes the great men and women. The first prize that life offers is the chance to work at work worth doing.

Lovers of tobacco in its various seductive forms, who have been at times a trifle conscience smitten by reason of the alleged deplorable effects of the tobacco habit upon the mind and body should henceforth be able to smoke their pipes in peace since no less an authority than The London Lancet, the foremost journal of the medical world, has risen up to declare in the most deliberate and positive way that tobacco smoke contains an appreciable amount of formaldehyde, one of the most powerful of antiseptics and germ killers.

It may cause no less surprise than amusement to learn that we are likely to run short of iron inside of a single century if we keep up the present rate of consumption, figures Leslie's Weekly. As a matter of fact, we are more likely to increase the consumption than we are to reduce it. The world has only 10,000,000,000 tons of iron ore available. Of these, Germany has two or as many tons as the United States. Russia and France each have [illegible] tons more than this country. Our consumption is placed at [illegible], which is more than a third of the world's total consumption, and far in advance of the present rate of production.

NEW GENERAL STATUTES.

The Sun has been furnished with the following information regarding the new General Statutes, for which we are indebted to Hon. J. C. B. Koonce of Sumterville, member of the Revision Committee. Mr. Koonce says:

"My attention has been called to the fact that the Governor's proclamation on the General Statutes of Florida bears date of Nov 1st, which will make the new book effectual December 1st. In view of the fact that the book has not yet been thoroughly distributed over the State, I think it might be of interest to the profession and those who may have occasion to use the book to give some information which will enable them to more readily familiarize themselves with the work.

"In the first place, the general plan of the book is the same as that of the Revised Statutes of '92, which it supersedes. For the convenience of the bar of the State in comparing the work and making reference, the Revision Commissioners adopted the plan of following each section of the new book with the section number of the same matter in the Revised Statutes. For example, following the figures 2250, which indicates that section of the General Statutes, appear in parentheses the figures (1773). This indicates that Section 1773 of the Revised Statutes of 1892 is brought forward in the General Statutes as Section 2250. The words and figures on the margin of the page opposite this section give the original act from which the section was compiled in the Revised Statutes of '92, towit, Sec. 2, of Ch. 3129, Acts of 1879. Every section which is taken from any act subsequent to the Revised Statutes of 1892 is so noted on the margin opposite the section; for example, Section 1742 was taken from Section 1 of Chapter 5124, acts of 1903. Where no reference is given on margin of page or by figures in parentheses it indicates that it is a section added by the Revisors (adopted, of course, by the Legislature of 1905). For instance, Section 1421 is a section added in this way, and this section should be noted by the bar of the State, as it is one requiring duplicate pleadings.

"Sometimes we changed the wording of a section, and in such cases the attention of the reader is called by the word 'Revised' in the margin. An example of this is Section 3633. Sometimes two or more acts are consolidated, and this is also noted in the margin, as, for example, Section 3387, being Section 2 of Chapter 4349, Acts of 1895, and Sec. 2 of Chapter 4190, Acts of 1893.

"Wherever a section of the Revised Statutes of '92 has been amended by a subsequent act of the Legislature it is so noted in margin; for example, Section 3410, this law was Section 2517 of Revised Statutes and it was amended by Sec. 1 of Chapter 4531, Acts 1897. Of course the same plan was followed where an act of the Legislature subsequent to the Revised Statutes was amended at a still later session of the Legislature, as, for example, Section 3752 is Section 5 of Chapter 5251, Acts of 1903, as amended by Chapter 5427, Acts of 1905.

"By keeping these things in mind it will be easy for anyone to note changes made in the laws and soon become as familiar with the General Statutes as with the old Statutes. The name General Statutes was adopted by the Legislature in order that the book might be easily distinguished from the Revision of '92. This book is necessarily a large one, containing 4,175 sections, besides the Constitution of the State and the United States, an appendix of the Acts of 1905 of a general and permanent nature not contained in the body of the work, with the index to same, and the General Index of nearly 300 pages.

"Those who wish the work in two volumes can purchase of the Secretary of the State the unbound volumes for $3.50. These they will find in two parts, the Constitution, and first, second and third divisions being in first part, and fourth and fifth divisions, the appendix and index in the second part. These can be bound separately, making the cost of the book only about one dollar more than the price the State will get for the bound volume ($5.00).

"As this book contains all the laws of Florida down to date, with copious annotations of the supreme court's construction of the same, it ought to be in the hands of every man in the State, that he might become acquainted with the Statute law of his State. The books can be had of Hon. H. Clay Crawford, Secretary of the State, Tallahassee, at $3.50 for the unbound and $5.00 for the bound volumes."

House Painting Problem.

"Since we've moved to Jersey and lived in a wooden house," said the bride, "I've evolved a new theory as to house painting. I'm thinking of writing a book, 'Every Man His Next Door Neighbor's House Painter.' I think red with cream trimmings is the prettiest color for a house surrounded with green grass and trees, and we've had our house at Fusilade painted that way. The neighbors, we find, all agree that it is hideous. Now, why should I, who comparatively seldom get a view of the outside of my own house, be allowed to inflict a nightmare on those who regard it as such, yet have to gaze at it by the hour perhaps? My next door neighbor, a poor, pallid invalid who ought to rejoice in red, loathes it, yet is obliged to see our house every time she looks from the sitting room where she spends her dreary life, while I, in turn, from the windows of my sewing room have to look directly at the cold, inhospitable gray of their house, which gives me the blues. We could enjoy their house if it were painted to suit us, and they could enjoy ours if it were according to their taste, so I'm going to start a reform, and everybody shall paint not his own house, but his next door neighbor's."—New York Press.

WORMS

"I had for years suffered from what medical men called Dyspepsia and Catarrh of the Stomach. In August I purchased a box of Cascarets and was surprised to find that I "had 'em"—yes—a wiggling, squirming mass left me. Judge our doctor's surprise when I showed him thirty feet, and in another day the remainder (about the same length) of a tapeworm that had been sapping my vitality for years. I have enjoyed the best of health ever since. I trust this testimonial will appeal to other sufferers."

The Artful Squirrel.

You may find many a squirrel in the course of your tramp, but no two alike exactly in their method of attempted means of escape or concealment. The ways and means of the little rascals are legion. One may flatten himself against a gray patch on the back of a tree trunk, absolutely motionless, and unless in your earnest, steadfast looking you can detect an ear or a shoulder in relief against the sky you might as well abandon search. Another may lie along a bough flattened at full length, but here the telltale ears are more easily silhouetted. Still another may crouch down up in a fork, and here the thing to look for is the fluffy tip of that little signal flag which always works and waves and jerks and signals so bravely when danger is not in the air, or one may gather himself up in a bunch to imitate a knot or knob, and here he can very well tell when you have spied him out. He will catch your eye, even as you catch the eye of an acquaintance in a crowd and will instantly limber up for headlong flight, leaping from tree to tree till he vanishes over the ridge.—Field and Stream.

Origin of the Cigarette.

The Aztecs, it is believed, are responsible for the cigarette. The Spaniards first got a whiff of the cigarette when they invaded Mexico under Cortes. The Aztecs then used tobacco in no other form, and the Spaniards learned from them how to roll the little package into smokable shape. They introduced the cigarette into Europe, and by that route it found its way into America, though it was nearly 200 years reaching here. The Aztecs were also using cocoa and its product, chocolate, when Cortes conquered them, and it was not long until the whole of Europe was eating the various preparations of this bean. When the Spaniards first tasted it they named it theobromus, from the two Greek words meaning "food of the gods."

There's No Use.

Talking, you can't beat Herbine for the liver. The greatest regulator ever offered to suffering humanity. The Regular Custom.

In a London street a girl of twelve and a boy of ten were playing a family drama of "mother and father," and Bobby was being instructed in his role. "Now, Bob," said the girl, "you jest walk up ter ther corner an' wait there till we tells yer ter come. We're a-goin' ter git dinner ready, an' when we calls yer, yer ter come 'ome an chuck the flugs about." "Ho!" said Bobby. "Come 'ome drunk, do I? An why for?" "Why for, stoopid?" retorted the girl, with a glance of mingled scorn and pity. "Ain't it Saturday?"

2 BRICK COURT.

Temple Chambers In Which Oliver Goldsmith Amused Himself.

Few buildings link the London of the present day with so many of the literary characters of the London of the past as does the house at 2 Brick court, Middle Temple. The dominant memory which clings around it is that perpetuated by a handsome tablet on its front elevation bearing the words:

> In these chambers died
> Oliver Goldsmith
> On the 4th of Apl., 1774.

Goldsmith's, however, was seldom a lonely figure, and he gathered around him at Brick court all the wit of the metropolis of his day. In 1765, on the strength of the success of "The Good Natured Man" and the fact that he was making some £500 a year, "Goldie" expended £400 on chambers "up two pair right" and fitted them with showy carpets, gilt mirrors and furniture extravagantly upholstered in blue velvet. Thus equipped, he embarked on a course of expenditure in which fine clothes for himself, grand dinners to a literary coterie and pretty trifles for venal beauties all bore costly parts. Johnson, Dr. Arne, Percy Reynolds, Francis and Bickerstaff were among the frequent visitors at 2 Brick court, but their arrival was not the cause of so much concern to Goldsmith's cotenants as that of some other of the poet's guests. It was the little supper parties to Goldsmith's young friends of both sexes that drew from the studious Blackstone, hard at work on his famous "Commentaries" in the rooms below "Goldie's," bitter protests against the racket of his "reveling neighbor."

Both "The Traveler" and "The Vicar of Wakefield" were published soon after Goldsmith moved into Brick court, but the income they brought him was insufficient to withstand the drain made on his resources by his extravagance, his generosity and his taste for gambling. Owing £2,000, unable to obtain further advances from his booksellers and seeing no way out of his embarrassments, Goldsmith broke down in spirits and health. He had to leave those windows from which he used to watch the rooks in the grove, which once stood where now is Elm court, and, as he wrote, "often amused myself with observing their plan of policy." Goldsmith returned thither, nevertheless, to die, and though he was carried to his last resting place through rows of weeping women the benches of the Temple appear to have valued him so little that the very place of his burial became forgotten. For that neglect the tablet came as tardy but welcome reparation.—London Tribune.

Always Was Sick.

When a man says he always was sick, troubled with a cough that lasted all winter—what would you think if he should say he never was sick since using Ballard's Horehound Syrup? Such a man exists. Mr. J. C. Clark, Denver, Colorado, writes: 'For years I was troubled with a severe cough that would last all winter. This cough left me in a miserable condition. I tried Ballard's Horehound Syrup and have not had a sick day since. That's what it did for me.' Sold by W. M. Johnson.

Amy Robsart.

On a Sunday in September, 1560, Lady Robert Dudley, better known under her maiden name of Amy Robsart, being in good health, went to a fair all the people of Cumnor Hall, near Oxford, where she was residing, except one friend. On their return she was lying dead at the foot of the stairs. Dudley courted inquiry. The inquest found that she died by accident, and she was splendidly buried in St. Mary's, Oxford. The Spanish ambassador wrote that Elizabeth had told him a few days before that Amy was likely to die soon, but he may well have had a motive for a false statement. It is Sir Walter Scott's greatest crime that he misdates Amy Robsart's death by some fifteen years.—Pall Mall Gazette.

Had a Close Call.

"A dangerous surgical operation involving the removal of a maligaant ulcer as large as my hand from my daughter's hip, was prevented by the application of Bucklen's Arnica Salve," says A. C. Sweet of Milstar, W. Va. "Persistent use of the salve completely cured it." Cures cuts, burns and injuries. 25c at all druggists'.

State Fair at Tampa.

On account of the Florida State Mid-Winter Fair at Tampa, Nov. 14th to 29th, the Atlantic Coast Line Railway will sell tickets for one fare plus 75 cents (including admission coupon) for the round trip. These tickets will be on sale from points north and west of Archer, Gainesville, Rochelle, Hawthorn and Palatka, including these points, Nov. 13, 15, 17, 20, 22, 24, 27 and 29th. From points south of the above points and not including them Nov. 14th and daily thereafter except Saturday and Sunday up to and including all trains scheduled to arrive in Tampa before noon of Nov. 29th. Final limit leaving Tampa Nov. 30th.

The Tampa Fair this year will be on a much larger scale than heretofore and large crowds will go from all points in this and other States. It will be an excellent opportunity to meet old friends and renew pleasant acquaintances.

POSTMASTER PROGRESSIVE.

Is Making Extensive Improvements, Which Are Duly Appreciated.

Postmaster Louis C. Lynch, recently appointed, is an ambitious official, and the patrons of the postoffice here appreciate very much his desire and effort to be up to date.

Above all things, Postmaster Lynch has been taught to believe that cleanliness is next to Godliness. He learned that from a small boy, and has ever clung to the adage. As a result, he has made a general change in the front, or public part, of the postoffice.

He has equipped the desks with neat bulletin boards, in order to prevent the sticking of advertising matter and notices on the walls. He has also supplied the postoffice, interior and exterior, with neat trash barrels which are inviting to those who receive objectionable mail and desire it to go the route of all papers of this kind. Heretofore it has been a question of throwing them on the floor and littering the place, but there will be no excuse for this in future.

Postmaster Lynch has had all trash barrels neatly painted. It is quite a suggestion for merchants and others around the square and on our business thoroughfares to provide for the reception of trash the same system, as it would save a great deal of filth and trash about the city.

AN INFORMAL DANCE.

Misses McCreary, Redding and Others Pay Compliment to Miss Jackson.

Misses Irene McCreary, Ida Redding and other young ladies of the city, in compliment to Miss Margaret Jackson of Arkansas, who is visiting Miss McCreary, tendered a delightful informal hop at the opera house Tuesday evening, which was largely attended, and which proved to be one of the most enjoyable social informal events of the season.

Miss Jackson, who was a former school-mate of Miss McCreary at Randolph-Macon College, has proven herself quite a favorite here. Possessed of a most amiable disposition, she has made many friends among the young society set who have a high regard for her, and who will regret her going away.

Morning train puts you in Tampa in time for supper. See Mr. Cobb.

Famous Wrestler Here.

Carl Miller of New York, a wrestler who has a national reputation, is in the city. Mr. Miller came for the purpose of arranging a friendly match if possible for this city on the evening of the 30th inst. If a competitor can be found, the athletes of Gainesville will be assured of a match worth attending.

Remember the old reliable Seaboard when you are traveling to the Tampa State Fair. It's the popular route, and puts you at destination on time. Tickets now on sale.
